Our Anti-slavery Policy as well as our CSR and sustainability policies reflects our commitment implementing and enforcing effective procedures and controls to minimise the risks of human trafficking and other modern slavery practices infiltrating our business operations or supply chains, and to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business activities and relationships. We ensure that our suppliers are aware of our policies.

Risk assessment

We risk assess which of our own activities and supply chains represent the highest risks in respect of slavery or human trafficking. Where areas are identified as high risk, they are discussed at our management meetings and measures to reduce risk put in place and documented.

We also seek to continually review the operations of existing suppliers in relation to the risk of modern slavery and human trafficking.

Due diligence processes in relation to slavery and human trafficking
In order to monitor and mitigate the risks of slavery and human trafficking occurring within our supply chains we aim to undertake the following due diligence processes in relation to new suppliers. These supplier questionnaires are audited as part of our management standards.

Staff training

We provide training to key staff to ensure that they understand the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking infiltrating our business or supply chains and effectively operate our policies and procedures aimed at mitigating this risk.

We make specific provision in our whistleblowing policy for the protection of those who whistle-blow in relation to an issue of modern slavery.
